FOOD, glorious food will be spilling on to plates across Hampshire.

Wickham Vineyard was the spectacular sunshine setting for the launch of the Hampshire Food Festival.

The event was hosted by Michelin-starred chef Atul Kochhar at his Vatika restaurant at the vineyard which offers innovative British cuisine with an Indian twist.

Fellow food guru Raymond Blanc, pictured centre with Atul Kochhar and fellow chef Jitin Joshi, also helped to give the launch a star spiced launch.

There will be plenty of attractions to tickle tastebuds at what promises to be the biggest food festival to date.

Boasting more than 140 different events at locations across the county the gastronomic extravaganza is a celebration of the county's fabulous food, delicious drinks and talented chefs.

Festivalgoers can take part in workshops and masterclasses ranging from sausage making to bee keeping.

■ The free Hampshire Food Festival Programme detailing all events, offers and prize draws is available by calling 0845 603 5638 or signing up at hampshirefare.co.uk.
